

THE ASTELLAS EUROPEAN FOUNDATION UROLOGY PRIZE FUND APPLICATIONS FOR 2010

The long-term support of basic medical and related scientific programmes in urology are the core activities developed by The Astellas European Foundation.

The Foundation is now ready to consider the support of research proposals and programmes from individuals or organisations that contribute to advancements in urology.

The prize fund is substantial and available only to those who would like to conduct extensive and meaningful research to advance our understanding of medicine and health. The therapy area of focus for this research must be urology.

Prize Fund

A prize fund of US$ 300,000 is available to cover the full salary of individual/s involved in the research and/or a contribution towards the project running costs and will be awarded to the successful individual or institution.
